

The Emergency Rescue Response Officer Training (12 hours)

The Emergency Rescue Response Officer Training is meant to prevent and reduce injury of employees and third parties as much as possible. The main tasks of an Emergency Rescue Response Officer are:

- Providing first aid when accidents occur
- Reducing and combatting starting fires
- Preventing and reducing accidents]
- Alarming and collaborating with authorities
- Alarming and evacuation of others in the workplace when an emergency appears

Course content:

- Organization of first aid
- Providing first aid when accidents occur
- Transporting victims
- Preventing and fighting fire
- Evacuation of colleagues, guests, and thirds in emergency situations
- Maintaining contact with external emergency services and facilities

Important note:

As a training location, we take all possible measures during our training to prevent Covid-19. Our maximum group size is 8 participants per training. In addition, everyone wears a mouth mask, hands can be disinfected regularly, and everyone fills in a contact tracing form. The training dolls and fire extinguishers are disinfected in the meantime. No mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is practiced, and you should keep a constant distance from each other. Certain actions are only practiced in mutual consultation.

Dates:	January 16, 23 & 30 2024
Duration:	12 hours (3x 4 hours)
Time:	From 8.00 am till 12.00 pm
Location:	Will be announced closer to date
Language:	English / Papiamentu
Total cost:	AWG 450, - per person (payment in installment possible)
Including:	Theoretical and practical examination, fire extinguishing, carnet with a validation of one-year, online certificate.